Excerpt: .the only source from which the painters drew inspiration. On the contrary, the painters were themselves the chief professors of the art of coiffure, and the very greatest devoted much attention to the invention of beautiful arrangements and adornments for the hair of their models. Thus Vasari, speaking of Leonardo da Vinci's admirable skill in drawing, mentions with enthusiasm some heads of women whose coiffures were so graceful and beautiful that Leonardo always imitated them --coiffures which we may be sure were composed by Leonardo himself, for the drawings in question still exist to charm us by their absolute beauty and complete originality. One of these drawings at Florence represents the favorite Milanese type which Leonardo has immortalized in his picture of the Virgin and St. Anne, the hair falling in rolling waves, almost in ringlets, over the shoulders, the shorter front...
