The regular meeting of the club for Winter Quarter was held on January 8th, re-electing Clarence K. Chan as president, H. H. Wu, secretary, and H. Wu, treasurer of the club. A special meeting was called the next night to discuss the construction of the contemplated club house. Three committees were evolved to take care of the business, the financial and the technical sides of the problem. The beautiful Stanford campus shall witness the erection of the first Chinese Students Club House in America. The newly-elected officers are striving hard to put the Stanford Club on the map. A basketball team is soon to be organized to compete with our traditional rival, the Chinese Students Club of the University of California. We are 100 per cent, sure to get old Cal's goat Work and no play makes Jack a dull boy, so our social committee gets pretty busy to arrange dinner parties and socials which are to be given in the old farm and in San Francisco during this quarter. H. W. Yee H. H. Wu WASHINGTON Our November meeting was held the day after Thanksgiving. We were successful in securing additional members for the Alliance, thus entitling us this year to three representatives in the Western Section. As there was no business discussion, our interests that evening were centered around the lantern slides. The pictures were clearly explained; first by Benjamin Cheng, on those of Peking, and then by Quincey Cheng,...
