Not illustrated. 1922 Excerpt: .virus of the disease is destroyed before it has time to multiply, and consequently the individual is protected from the disease. Please understand that I am not ready to give up the theory of the formation of specific proteases. I see no other explanation of the immunity conferred by vaccination or by one attack of the disease. However, in presenting this matter I wish to proceed without being influenced by preconceived ideas, and I wish to repeat that the idea of a nonspecific protein digestion in anaphylactic shock especially has much in itB favor, both in fact and in theory. The poison developed in anaphylactic shock may not come from the protein of the reinjection and the protease developed in sensitization may not be specific. Anaphylactic shock may be due wholly to the unmasking of a nonspecific ferment and the poison formed may come from the proteins of the blood, but if all this be true, and the weight of evidence today is in this direction, the anaphylactic reaction remains specific. We have only transferred the problem of specificity from the development of a specific enzyme to the specific uncovering of a nonspecific enzyme. It remains true that an animal sensitized to one protein is not sensitized to other and unlike proteins. I have said that the theory of the uncovering of a general protease in anaphylactic shock has much in substance incubated with blood serum in vitro renders its favor. 47As was first shown by...
